And so it begins...

The New Year's Eve engagement of Bunny Perry (Caitlyn Tazzer) to her beloved Donald (Martin Dion) was the starting point for a year of mystery and murders after the bride's parents (Alan Kostyniuk and Kelsey Taylor) made their New Year's resolutions: his to murder his wife, hers to stay alive for their daughter's wedding on the following New Year's eve, as the first two performances of Elk Point Regional Allied Arts' pre-Christmas dinner theatre presentation, "A Little Murder Never Hurt Anybody," hit the stage. The hilarious comedy also stars Don Conrad as Buttram the butler and Randal Kryz as Detective Plotnik. Story. Page 9

Garbage bylaw raises questions

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The draft of Elk Point's proposed garbage bylaw is raising some questions with town council. Mayor Parrish Tung said last Monday that the term 'mechanical adaptable' in regard to garbage bins does not clarify what is required. Nor does the bylaw state if residents would have to purchase bins from the town.

"Some people have (that type of) bins already, but I'm not sure if they will work with our truck."

The draft also raises the issue of front pickup, the mayor said.

He urged council to read through the bylaw and write down their comments prior to the next meeting, but noted that the bylaw may not be changed until after New Year's.

Northern Lights Library System increase

Council approved a motion to approve the Northern Lights Library System's operating budget, which includes a five per cent increase in the fee to the municipality.

Recreation Board

Council agreed to a recommendation from the recreation board that packages of hot chocolate mix will be handed out at the Christmas Extravaganza parade instead of the traditional candy.

Approval was also given to the purchase of a laptop computer with Microsoft Office for the recreation coordinator, to a maximum cost of $800.

Skateboard Park

Another recreational item came to council's attention later in the meeting, with the discussion of a potential skateboard park, with Mayor Tung assuring council that "The interest is there," citing that a Facebook group promoting the idea has grown to about 200.

Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich expressed concern that the town "could be spending money on a limited amount of people," but the mayor reminded him that similar comments had been made about the water spray park, which proved to be a huge success.

Health Advisory Council updated on Medi-vac move

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Emergency medical services Medi-vac transfers to Edmonton topped the agenda at Thursday's meeting of the Lakeland Communities Health Advisory Council in Elk Point, with Howard Snodgrass, the executive director of Provincial Air Ambulance Operations and Inter-Facility Patient Transfer Strategy and Provincial Air Ambulance medical director Dr. Mark MacKenzie joining the meeting by telephone.

The two gave an overview of the work underway in preparation for the closure of the Edmonton City Centre Airport, with Snodgrass saying that change could occur as soon as early in the new year, "and it's important that Alberta Health Services (AHS) be on top of the situation." Air ambulance operations will relocate to Edmonton International Airport (EIA), "which has already been deemed most acceptable. We've been planning for some months now, and the physical relocation will occur early in 2013."

Snodgrass noted that the Health Quality Council had guided much of the planning, as preparations are made to create "one consolidated facility. STARS has already moved to EIA, and both the helicopters and fixed wing aircraft will be operating from the same facility" once the move is complete.

The facility will include a patient holding area for patients both inbound and outbound, leaving for or arriving from health care facilities by dedicated ground ambulance, he said.

"Under current circumstances, up to five or six fixed-wing aircraft might be on the tarmac, waiting for their medical crews to return from accompanying patients to their destination. It really ties them up," Snodgrass noted that time-sensitive patients could be transferred from fixed-wing to helicopter for the transfer to hospitals.

Health Advisory Council members had a number of questions for Snodgrass and MacKenzie, starting with the availability of a backup airport if EIA was closed because of weather conditions or other factors.

"The EIA is rarely closed, which is one reason for us to go with it," Snodgrass said, adding that use of the Edmonton Garrison's airport "is not moving forward, but Villeneuve is available."

MacKenzie answered a question regarding possible changes to the hospitals receiving patients brought in by air. "Referral patterns won't change much," he stated, noting that the destination depends on the clinical needs of the patient. "The majority (of patients transported by fixed-wing aircraft) is brought in for diagnostic service or consultations."

Advisory Council vice-chair Pat Palechuk felt the amount of traffic on transportation routes to the hospitals could be a factor. "The golden hour is being rapidly eroded."

"There's no question it's a longer distance and travel time," Snodgrass said, "but the vast majority of cases are not time sensitive."

MacKenzie agreed, noting that "emergencies coming in are few in number, and much less common" than patients coming in for non-emergency matters. "I share the concern, but they're very few.

The joint facility will start out with four dedicated ambulances during the daytime and two in the evenings, with the ability to call in more if needed, listeners were told. When asked if the changes might cause more patients to be sent by ground ambulance, Snodgrass didn't think so, but added, "It would depend on the situation." There are no plans to add more STARS bases to the three located in Grande Prairie, Edmonton and Calgary. EMS is still negotiating with STARS, but is working very closely with them to move critical patients brought in by fixed wing aircraft to their destination with the helicopters.

It was noted that the holding facility would be staffed with paramedics and EMTs to monitor the patients until they are transported, and will not be used for critical cases.

Information about the move is currently being shared with health councils, senior vice president Sue Conroy said, and will also be going out to municipal leaders as the change draws closer.

Fort Kent board member David Beale acknowledged that Edmonton "has the right to close the City Centre airport, and this is making the best of a bad situation. The difficulty boils down to, it takes an hour to get up here, so the round trip takes about the same time as it would to go in by ground ambulance. It takes away the advantage." He was also "surprised that so many non-emergency transfers are made by air ambulance. It's six of one, half a dozen of the other, but we still have STARS as an option for extra-critical patients. I'm uneasy about the situation."

Snodgrass said that a database helps decide the best way of transporting a patient and assured the group that work is underway "to find proactive ways of making sure patient safety and quality of care is not compromised by the change."

Health Promotion coordinator Kristy Brown spoke to the group about a program promoting healthy eating, active living and positive well-being in schools before board members had an opportunity to provide updates on issues ranging from the recently-completed sidewalk between Heritage Lodge and Elk Point Health Care Centre to the slowly being replaced provincial menu. Lodge manager Loris Kozina said the walkway had been used for the first time a week earlier, and now provides easy access to the Health Care Centre for her residents.

Diana Anderson felt strongly that future HAC meetings should be advertised to get more public input.

Smoky Lake - St. Paul - Two Hills MLA Shane Saskiw was welcomed to the meeting and sat in as an observer.

Garbage bylaw raises questions

Skateboard owners tend to be Grade 7 to 9 boys, "and some Grade 6, too," the mayor noted. The short boards many of them use are meant for doing tricks, and can be dangerous on the road, he said, while long boards will travel faster.

Coun. Ron Fraess said that most of the skateboarders he has seen "are around the post office" and he would like to see the results of a survey that had been handed out to teens.

Development

Coun. Yaremkevich questioned if it will be necessary to move the Peter Fidler statue and the new welcome sign, in order to construct an avenue accessing the expanded residential area. The town will be meeting with the engineer and with ATCO later in the month to determine details of the development.

Mayor Tung said servicing of the residential expansion has been completed. Then town will now re-tender curb and gutter. Natural gas is now being installed in the industrial park.

The mayor also indicated that he believes "there will be more interest in locating work camps in the region," A request to locate a 500 man camp in Cold Lake was recently turned down by that city.

Foot Traffic Only

The sighting of a snowmobile traveling down the newly completed walking trail has prompted council to remind everyone that the trail parallel to the south side of 50 Ave. and the designated walking lane on 54 St. are for foot traffic only. Snowmobiles and ATVs must use the Iron Horse Trail or snowmobile trails in the area.

CAPC welcomes new Elk Point RCMP Detachment Commander

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Community Advisory Policing Committee welcomed Elk Point RCMP's new Detachment Commander, Sgt. Dave Casey, who recently arrived in Elk Point to take up his new post.

Another newcomer also got a warm welcome. Pastor Jim MacLellan, who is returning to the committee to replace retired Pastor Bill Kryzanowski, brought along Kryzanowski's successor, Pastor Don Ford who recently took over the pulpit at the Elk Point Christian Community Church.

The committee is still looking for a representative from the oil industry.

Guy Genereux of St. Paul and Area Victim Services thanked his Elk Point counterpart, Dawn Lavallee, for assisting the St. Paul group recently.

Lavallee said she had eight or nine files in this area in October and two to date in November, mostly involving assault and family violence. She hopes to see a Skate With Santa in the coming weeks.

Representatives of F. G. Miller High School reported that the TK's Toys for Tots campaign, which collects stuffed animals to be given out by Victim Services and the RCMP to youngsters who are victims of violence or other trauma, would be going ahead again this year. The P.U.P group is selling chocolate moustaches for the Movember fundraiser for prostate cancer, and is selling handmade greeting cards as a fundraiser for the breakfast program. They are also collecting non-perishable food for the Christmas Convoy, which assists the Santas Anonymous campaign. Several P.U.P members are attending a volunteer summit workshop for the MS Society.

Greater Lakeland Rural Crime Watch president Lavina Ewasiuk invited everyone to that group's meeting the following evening, as well as to the annual meeting on January 17 at the St. Paul Legion Hall, which will feature David Heaslip of K Division as guest speaker.

Deanna Easthope said the FCSS is collecting names of families who could use help from Santas Anonymous. She thanked all who attended Remembrance Day, and was proud to report that the indoor observation of two minutes of silence was held right on time.

Margaret Modin reported that the Seniors' Recreation Centre is "very busy" these days, and is still waiting for the arrival and installation of new doors to replace those extensively damaged during a break-in. Activities are ongoing, with morning coffee gatherings, floor curling and carpet bowling for the seniors and use of the facility by a dance group that had been displaced by the high school renovations.

Sgt. Casey said he found Elk Point to be a nice community with nice people, but "not without the problems small towns have," including speeders. The detachment has "two brand new members just out of Depot," while two current members are transferring out of the community. "All is going well, and Cpl Auger did a fantastic job. We just have some growing pains at the moment."

The next CAPC meeting will be held January 9.

School renovations on schedule

For the first time since the Oct. 25 accident at Racette School that claimed the life of local Grade 6 student Megan Wolitski and critically injured two others, the St. Paul Education Regional Division gathered for its regular board meeting.

The meeting began as usual, with the singing of the national anthem, and was followed by a short prayer by board chair Maureen Miller. She prayed for the students, families and staff affected by the accident, and asked that they be kept in the minds of the trustees as they move forward with making decisions.

Following the approval of the agenda, the first item to be discussed was a debriefing of the accident.

Supt. Glen Brodziak says the division continues to monitor students and staff at Racette School and are offering support to those who need it. He again thanked the first responders and Racette staff who were on hand the day of the tragedy.

The outpouring of support received from across the province and the country was amazing, said Brodziak. He added that in two to four weeks, the division would be meeting with parents of Racette students to discuss what the next move will be.

Following the accident, where a van crashed into a Grade 6 classroom, Racette students were moved to the St. Paul Regional High School while Racette School 1 (the original Racette School) continues to undergo major modernizations. Brodziak said the upcoming meeting would determine whether or not the school community wants to move back to Racette 2, the site of the accident, until modernizations are complete.

Brodziak added that it would take a while for the division to finish reviewing how the situation was handled and if all policies and procedures in place "held up."

Carmen Glossop, the ATA representative at last week's meeting, said that as a staff member, she appreciated Brodziak's leadership during the crisis.

"It was nice to have that direction," she said.

Capital projects

Secretary-Treasurer Jean Champagne offered the board an update on the capital projects underway within the division.

When the division inquired to the contractor about speeding up the Racette School modernization, the contractor responded by saying it isn't feasible to speed up the project significantly.

"The contractor is aware of the urgency," said Champagne. However, the materials for the project are already ordered and are arriving based on the original schedule. Speeding up the project would also involve challenges in dealing with the sub-trades, Champagne noted.

Champagne said he would confirm with the contractor the soonest anticipated completion date for the interior of the school.

- The Department of Health in the U.K. believes in the merits of flu vaccination. Starting in 2014, all children between the ages of 2 and 17 will be offered free flu immunization. This move will make the United Kingdom the first country to include all children in a flu vaccination program free of charge.
- The most common genetic disorder affecting Canadians is hereditary hemochromatosis. It is caused by a defect in the metabolism of iron that leads to iron overload in vital organs and tissues which can lead to damage. Early diagnosis is important and treatment is 100% effective consisting of the removal of some blood periodically until iron levels return to normal.
- Working night shifts can be really hard on the body and mind. It's good to have at least two nights of really good sleep following the night shifts to feel refreshed and back to normal.
- Probably when you were a child with a cold, your mother rubbed Vicks or Mentholatum on your chest to relieve the symptoms and give you (and your Mom!) a good night's sleep. Well, this treatment does help to make breathing easier and help reduce coughs. It's worth a try.

Making a list?

If you're busy making your Christmas list, please don't forget to add a little something to help out those less fortunate.

When you're buying that monster load of groceries for Christmas baking, why not pick up an extra box of rice cereal, a bag of marshmallows and a foil pan, and drop it in the food bank collection box so someone else can treat their family, too?

When you're shopping for Christmas attire for your children, why not pick up an extra pair of mittens and a scarf and take them over to one of the financial institutions to add to the Tree of Warmth?

And don't forget those farther away, either. The bright red-and-green shoeboxes will be heading off to lands far away this week. Make sure yours makes the trip!

WAY BACK WHEN...

Recreation, remembrance, 'right place to be'

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF NOV. 20 IN...

1987

A $123,003 grant through the Alberta Business and Community Development Program was put to use building ball diamonds, walking and cycling paths at the Recreation Park, with good cooperation from fine fall weather. A large crowd gathered at Elk Point's cenotaph on Remembrance Day, as Ron Barwick played the Last Post under sunny skies, the 10 degree temperatures a marked contrast from the previous year's minus 20 degrees.

1992

Elk Point found a warm new way to commemorate Remembrance Day, laying wreaths around an indoor cenotaph at the packed-to-the-doors Seniors' Recreation Centre, the excellent attendance said by master of ceremonies Sid Holthe to be "indeed proof that you do remember." Elk Point Agricultural Society announced plans to move up to a Class B agricultural fair, with the addition of a cattle show for females and market steers to the August 1993 lineup.

1997

Construction was proceeding full speed ahead on the Koch Exploration Canada Ltd. battery in the Ferguson Flats area and would soon be ready to collect and treat oil from 150 wells in the six-section project. Town council approved an amendment to the land use bylaw to allow the use of the former St. Michael's Catholic Church as an antique store, provided the integrity and appearance remain intact as a museum-type church.

2002

Silver Cross mother Rita Weir, accompanied by her grandson Josh, was among those who laid wreaths at Elk Point's cenotaph as a pale sun glinted off freshly fallen snow at a ceremony held totally at the cenotaph, followed by coffee and lunch at the United Church. Alvina Schuhmancher and Pastor Jerry Richards of the Christian Community Church were in the running for an upcoming by-election to fill a vacancy on town council left by the resignation of Dwayne Vogel, who had moved out of town.

2007

Elk Point was "the right place to be," declared the town's new slogan, which replaced the "gateway to the Lakeland" which had been in use for more than 25 years. A total of 287 well-filled shoeboxes were sent on their way to less fortunate children overseas via Operation Christmas Child, thanks to donations made to local schools and churches.

GUEST COLUMN

Christmas thoughts

I have just finished reading a novel titled: "An Irish Country Christmas" by Patrick Taylor that I was very impressed with as it describes how life used to be not only in Northern Ireland but also how I imagined it used to be in our own area a few years ago.

The novel tells a story about Doctors Taylor, Laverty and O'Reilly and Mrs. Kinky Kincaid that takes place in rural Ireland in 1964 – the time period before the Ulster Troubles from 1969 to 1994. Yes, it is a doctor story when doctors did home visits when requested and did their best from using what was available in their "doctor's bag" and their own knowledge.

It is a story many an old-time country doctor could relate to. They practiced a very different brand of medicine on real people, whose feelings and lives were as important as the diseases that afflicted them. Besides reading a novel about how medical practice once was, I also enjoyed Mrs. Kinky Kincaid's recipes at the back of the book. I especially enjoyed her recipe for Christmas pudding as it reminded me of my Mother's suet pudding recipe she always made a few months before Christmas. I will quote Mrs. Kinky Kincaid's recipe.

175g/6oz/ ¾ cup soft bread crumbs
400 ml/1 ¾ cups milk
300g/10 ½ oz/1 ¼ cups castor or white sugar
250 g/9oz /1 cup suet
175g/6 oz/ ¾ cup plain or all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

1 ½ teaspoons nutmeg
175 g/ ¾ cup grated carrot

250 g/9 oz/1 cup currants
250 g/9 oz/1 cup raisins
175 g/6 oz/ ¾ cup mashed potato
75 g/2 ½ oz/ ¼ cup candied peel
3 eggs, beaten
4 teaspoons treacle or molasses

deanna

from the FCSS desk

Heat milk to boiling point and pour over crumbs in a very large bowl. Add the sugar and leave to soak for ½ hour. Mix in all the other ingredients, except eggs and treacle, mixing very well. Finally add the eggs and treacle and beat very well. Put mixture into greased bowls, cover and steam for 4 hours. Continue to add boiling water from time to time to ensure that it does not boil dry. Makes one very large (2 ½ litre) pudding or two small ones (1 ¾ litre). The pudding matures and tastes much better if you can remember to make it one year to 6 months before you need it. On Christmas day steam for a further 2 hours. Turn out and garnish with a spring of holly. * Serve with Brandy Sauce.

55g/2 oz/ 4 tbsp butter
55g/2 oz/ ¼ cup plain or all-purpose flour
570 ml/20 fl oz/ 2 ½ cups milk
55 g 2 oz/ ¼ cup castor or white sugar
¼ cup brandy

Melt the butter and stir in the flour. Cook for 2 minutes and stir in the milk. Bring to the boil, stirring all the time. Simmer gently for 10 minutes. Stir in the brandy and sugar, and serve with Christmas pudding. *Note: My mother made this with non-alcoholic brandy ... your choice.

Today's medical graduate would not recognize the conditions under which medicine was practiced in the sixties. And some young people may not recognize the Christmas pudding recipe but I remember that special Christmas dessert - it is really worth preparing a certain amount of time before Christmas. If you have never done it before, you have five weeks before Christmas if you start today.

Alberta House Speaker drops by for lunch

By JANANI WHITFIELD
Review Contributor

With a letter that promised up some of Alberta's "best perogies," Lac La Biche-St. Paul-Two Hills MLA Shayne Saskiw invited Alberta's Speaker of the House, Gene Zwozdesky, to his St. Paul constituency office for a luncheon.

Last Wednesday, Saskiw's office received notice from Zwozdesky that he would be coming to the constituency the following day, and there was a scramble to make sure that the promised perogies were on the menu.

Over a plate of what he deemed "Grade A" perogies, Zwozdesky explained that his goal was to visit at least 20 of the province's 87 constituency offices by Christmas. "My purpose is to discuss, particularly with new MLAs, the constituency budget and how it is suiting or not suiting the demands of the local area."

Constituency office budgets generally sit at about $130,000 a year, but fluctuate based on the needs of the constituency.

School renovations continue

Another ongoing capital project is the new Two Hills Mennonite School, which is expected to go to tender any day now. There are concerns coming from the community that the project isn't moving forward and that it is smaller than originally thought.

Trustee Ron Rudkowsky confirmed that neither of the rumours is true. The project is moving forward, despite being held up a bit, and the school is being built for 550 students. The current Mennonite school has 530 students.

"When the tractors show up, we're going to be quite excited," said Miller.

Renovations at F.G. Miller in Elk Point are also ongoing and moving on schedule, the board heard.

FSLW

SPERD will be approaching local municipalities in hopes of again getting funding for the Family School Liaison Worker (FSLW) program.

"Our front line workers continually tell us how valuable this service is to our students," says a draft letter to be sent to local municipalities. The program offers a variety of services, such as individual and group counseling, crisis management and referrals to other agencies.

In the letter, SPERD states that it has "more than doubled the budget targeted for the FSLW program" and notes the funding received from community partners is essential to the program.

The board discussed requesting more than the $10,000 that was received from each of the contributing municipalities, which includes the Town of St. Paul, Town of Elk Point, County of St. Paul, and the Two Hills region. The board will also request assistance from First Nations communities in the area, but in the past, these communities have not provided funding to the program.

Facebook

SPERD and a few of its schools have now launched Facebook pages, following a few months of planning with school administrators.

The division wants to be sure the pages are not abused in any way, and are being used as a way to communicate relevant information to parents.

"It seems to be going alright," said Brodziak in his monthly report to the board, adding, "we always want feedback... but we want constructive feedback." Staff at schools will monitor the school pages and central office will monitor its own page.

December meeting

Trustees agreed to reschedule the regular December board meeting to Dec. 11, instead of Dec. 12, to ensure trustees can attend the ordination of the new bishop for the Diocese of St. Paul.

4-H weighs in

By DUSTIN PINDER AND MATHEW MCANALLY
Club Reporters

The Elk Point 4-H Beef Club had their Weigh Day on November 12 at Kevin and Janice Wirsta and family's place. This year we have 15 steers, six heifers, three, two-year-old cows and three, three-year-old cows.

We had a great day and lots of fun. We had a potluck lunch with a meeting to follow.

This year we are again raising a calf that has been donated by Murry and Lisa Nielsen of Shamrock Valley Enterprises with the proceeds to be donated to the Stollery Children's Hospital. The calf is being fed by the Wirsta family.

The members have decide to collect food for the food bank until Easter. As a fundraiser we are selling Mundare Sausage. Contact any Beef members for details. Also the club is collecting Ivomec and Eprinex boxes and jugs, contact Erin Wells at 780-724-4328 or Mona Bristow at 780-943-2039.

As a Christmas party we are tobogganing and skating at the Lupuls' house.

Avalanche gets encouragement from NHL player

Mark Letestu of the NHL's Columbus Blue Jackets (back row, third from right) returned to the ice where he honed his minor hockey skills in earlier years, to encourage today's counterparts as he joined them for practices last week. He even had time for a photo with the Peewee Avalanche and Sportshound Doug Bassett, as well as autographs and photos with some of the young hockey stars of tomorrow. Check out the Sportshound's comments on this memorable evening on Page 8.

'Marksman' visits Avalanche practices

You know the easiest way to put a smile on a kid's face? Let him or her have a NHL hockey player come out and practice with them.

Last Thursday night Mark "the Marksman" Letestu made a surprise visit to our arena and attended four out of our five minor hockey teams practices. He skated and made conversation with each and every kid on the team, doing drills right along with them, passing the puck with them, and shooting on the goalies. After each team's practice, while he warmed up he signed their hockey bags, sticks, sweaters and most of the parents got out their I phone and took pictures of their little hockey stars with him. What a thrill for our local minor hockey kids!

We are very fortunate having someone like "the Marksman" from our town willing to come out and do this; plus the fact the NHL is on strike, otherwise it would never have happened during the winter season. Their loss is our gain, although "the Marksman" admitted he has been a little spoiled; he wasn't used to playing in a cold barn like ours anymore and he hadn't dressed up warm enough for the occasion. He wasn't, however, cold enough to accept my offer of a Maple Leafs toque, and said he'd rather freeze than wear it! I think he better toughen up, get some long johns on, or get back to work, because if he's staying here in Elk Point for the whole winter it isn't going to get much better; it's only the middle of November, the best is yet to come!

The Atom "A" team missed out on Thursday night because they practice on Monday and Wednesday nights, but I have a sneaky suspicion he will show up at one of their practices sometime in the near future.

And while we are on the topic of the Atom "A" team, after losing to a tough tier one team on Saturday in Lloydminster, they played an exhibition game against Bonnyville on Sunday, that game ending in a four-all tie. Leading the charge with two goals was Devon "Naz" Nazarchuk, Dylan "the but even after getting hammered they were still smiling and staying positive.

This girl is a blast to watch as she scrambles around the net. Goalie Erin Duffee faced a ton of rubber, 66 shots in fact on goal; she stopped a good percentage of them. Ronan "Radar" Poulin zeroing in on the target, scoring the only goal for the Avalanche, set up by his two little helpers, who look innocent enough at first, but trust me, they are becoming very aggressive as fore checkers, the line mates Miss Jenna "Precious" Poitras and "Jorja Girl" Therault with the assists.

The Pee wee Avalanche split the weekend, losing one Friday night in the Border City, but bouncing right back and beating their old arch rivals Mallaig on Sunday. Corbin "the Crusher" Ockerman with a goal and an assist in the Lloydminster game, big D-man Nicholas Tucker with his wicked slap shot, also scored one and added a helper, "Awesome Alex" Hunter notching one, and good old number 4, Chad "Pick Pocket" Poitras, shifting into high gear with the puck buried one into the twine too.

Sunday in Mallaig, the Avalanche showed no mercy and wasn't taking any prisoners in this one against the team that has beaten them out of the provincial round robins a few times. The final score 10 to 1 for the Avalanche. The very skilful team captain "Awesome Alex" Hunter and his long legged sidekick "the Big O" Brody Odgaard with a hat trick each, two goals for the sniper Cyle Graus, the warrior "Dust Pan" Dustyn Pankiw sweeping one in, he also did all the grunt work assisting on another; Chase Dorey who is becoming quite the story, in only his second season playing, he hammered one home too. Two helpers by "Pick Pocket" Poitras, "Crusher" Ockerman also helping out the cause with two assists as well and smooth skating Nicholas Tucker on the score sheet with an assist too. And let's not forget, the suburb plays of the man behind the mask the "Dominator" Darrian Rybchinsky; who always comes up with some big timely saves to keep the boys in every game.

And now for the K.A.Campbell quote of the week. "Half the game is mental; the other half is being mental" Last week's answer to: "Some people skate to the puck. I skate to where the puck is going to be." - Wayne Gretzky.

Some tweaking still needs to be done on the tiering system in our North East Alberta League, especially when they make rules that force teams into tier one, that rule shouldn't apply to small associations and maybe they should even consider adding a forth tier that would also help some smaller associations with first time players. The first part of December they will be moving some teams around and hopefully this will help.

Saturday at noon when the Atom "B" team hosted St. Paul, the game was very one-sided, our guys getting the worst of it, as they have for most of the year so far;

Deck the trees with warmth

INFORMATION SUBMITTED

Elk Point and area residents will be decking a trio of trees with warm wishes for the less fortunate again this Christmas.

The Kings Kids at the Christian Community Church have located their 'Tree of Warmth' Christmas trees at TD Canada Trust, ATB Financial and Servus Credit Union and are inviting the public to decorate the trees with toques, mittens, socks and scarves for all ages.

All items will be delivered before Christmas to The Mustard Seed, an inner city mission in Edmonton.

Coats are also being accepted, but must be dropped off at Elk Point Municipal Library or at the Christian Community Church.

Call 780-724-4039 for more information.

Pre-Christmas comedy hits the stage

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Six seasoned performers took to the stage of the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre for the first weekend of their pre-Christmas dinner theatre, 'A Little Murder Never Hurt Anybody,' with a dinner performance on Saturday and their first-ever brunch performance on Sunday.

It has long been a tradition for Matthew Perry, played by Alan Kostyniuk, and his wife, played by Kelsey Taylor, to make New Year's resolutions on New Year's Eve, but this year's resolutions were a bit startling. He vowed to murder his wife at some point during the year, since one of his friends, recently widowed, was now out having the time of his life, traveling the world and golfing whenever he wants to.

Mrs. Perry says she's not having that much fun either, and vows to have a passionate affair with someone... perhaps the butler, Buttram, played by Don Contrad.

But then, daughter Bunny (Caitlin Tazzer) announced her engagement to Donald (Martin Dion), with the wedding set for the following New Year's Eve, and Mrs. Perry changed her resolution to staying alive until her daughter's wedding.

Thus began a challenging year, when the audience looked in on the Perry household at the beginning of June and during one of the zaniest Halloweens possible, both of these occasions including visits from a very persistent Detective Plotnik (Randall Kryz), who is obsessed with finding out why so many apparent murder victims are showing up at the Perry estate.

How will it all end? If you don't have the opportunity to see the show, check one of our upcoming issues for more photos and ... the rest of the story...

Perfect attendance celebrated

Fire safety tips for the holidays

CONTRIBUTED COPY

While the incidence of fire increases during the holiday season due to greater use of natural Christmas trees, decorations and electric lighting, Canadians are taking further risks as more than 29 per cent of homeowners admit they don't have a fire extinguisher in their home, according to an RBC Insurance survey.

"Between shopping for gifts and attending holiday parties, the last thing you want to worry about is your house being damaged by a fire," explains Tim Bzowey. "However, there are precautions you can take to help keep your family safe this holiday season."

Tips for a safer holiday

- Keep your tree securely tethered and away from any and all heat sources. This includes electrical outlets, space heaters, radiators and fireplaces.
- Do not leave Christmas lights on all night. Unplug the tree lights and any other lighting before leaving your home or going to bed. The lights could short out and start a fire.
- Choose decorations that are flame-retardant, non-combustible and non-conductive. For example, do not use metallic ornaments on the tree, as they could make contact with defective wiring and become a shock hazard.
- Closely monitor flame burning candles. Avoid using candles on windowsills; particularly those that have curtains, as even the smallest drafts are capable of spreading a flame.
- Make sure fireplaces and chimneys are properly cleaned and maintained. Have a professional inspect your fireplace annually for any cracks and always use a screen in front of your fireplace while it is burning.

National Anti-Bullying Week at Heinsburg Community School

This past week staff and students at Heinsburg School engaged in a variety of activities to bring awareness to bullying and focus on action. Mrs. Sanders, school counsellor, Mrs. Abraham and Mrs. Goddard, staff representatives for the S.A.D.D. committee (Students against Destructive Decisions) planned week-long activities for students and staff. The week included an opening pep rally for students, a guest author visit and a traffic safety presentation as well as a ventriloquist act.

Students were treated to enthusiastic cheers in the opening pep rally and a video comprised of classmates and staff discussing the negative effects of bullying as well as suggestions on how to stand up to bullies. Author, Debby Waldman, read to elementary students from her book "A Sack Full of Feathers" and shared stories of cyber-bullying and how gossip, text and pictures can be hurtful.

Val Hilliker, a local ventriloquist from Bluffton, Alberta entertained the entire school with her message of creating a respectful school environment and being assertive when facing difficult situations.

Barry Sallstrom from Regional Traffic Safety also gave a presentation to the junior and senior high students on safety when driving.

Staff instructed students in the virtues of respect, self-esteem, anger management, and working it out together throughout the week.
